Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dodson (US 6,224,258) in view of McWhorter (US 4,986,289) and corella (US 5,794,776). Dodson discloses a flexible bag, said bag including a front wall and a rear wall, said front wall and said rear wall being fixedly attached together at opposing side edges to define longitudinally extending sides and at a bottom edge to define a closed lower end, a mouth formed by said front and rear walls between said sides; a slidable sealer affixed to a top end of said bag for releasably sealing said mouth, said sealer comprising a tongue element and a groove element, said tongue element being disposed on said front wall and said groove element being disposed on said rear wall, said tongue element being adapted for slidably engaging said groove element; an aperture defined through said front and rear walls proximate an upper end of said bag.

Although Dodson does not appear to show two sideseams, Corella teaches thick side seams to seal the sides of the package. Also, Dodson teaches storing dental products within the bag and it would have been obvious to store dental floss such as taught by McWhorter.

It would also have been obvious to provide the desired length and width for the bag through routine experimentation.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the bag out of paper, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.
